Hackathon?

Hackathon Definition

- Hackathon - hack + marathon

- The term hackathon appears to be a pretty loose term

- Google's definition: "an event, typically lasting several days, in which a large number of people meet to engage in collaborative computer programming."

- From a freecodecamp article: "There are many different types of hackathons, but they all have several things in common:

    - Time limit — usually between 8 and 48 hours (* Ours will be a week!)

    - Theme — organizers will ask that you build a certain type of application (like Internet-of-Things) or they'll tell you to use a certain technology

    - Prizes — generally awarded for the best overall applications and for apps that fit into certain categories, or use a certain technology"